For a full gallery of pictures from the event, see www.kbbreview.com/awards

Bathroom Designer of the Year

Project cost up to £10,000

Sponsored by FLOVA®

L-R Host Miles Jupp with winners Tim Spiller and Liam Bennett and Flova managing director Martin Weal

Winner

Tim Spiller and Liam Bennett

Crawford Partnership Architects
Location: London
Project cost: £9,133
Cost includes installation

Brief: "The minimalist style of the client emanates from his individual character; using raw, industrial materials such as black brickwork and concrete floors alongside gentler timber creates a striking reinvention of domestic warmth."

What the judges said:
"Tim and Liam have taken an architectural approach to this bathroom and their design has succeeded. There's a lot of attention to detail so the bathroom works as a stand-alone design but also blends with the design of the whole house. A really confident use of plywood, over a standard white finish, to offset against the greys - the finished look is very different from your average bathroom and it's a really superior finish with a very small budget."

Finalists

Gary Nutting
Wave Bathrooms
Location: Salisbury
Project cost: £9,345
Cost does not include installation
Brief: "My high-profile clients wanted the bathroom to look elegant and specified that it should have an upmarket boutique feel to it. They wanted a classic look for the tiling to blend nicely with this period property"

Timothy Baber
Timothy-Paul
Location: Bristol
Project cost: £9950
Cost does not include installation
Brief: "To create an en-suite shower room with a luxurious hotel feel in a converted church. A cold stark space needed to become an inviting space... with style."

Marie Hobson
Spinks Interiors
Location: Doncaster
Project cost: £9855
Cost does not include installation
Brief: "My clients wanted to have an opulent look with a freestanding bath big enough for two. As they use their own home as a selling tool for their business as bespoke builders, the room needed to be impressive and memorable."