

Bathroom Designer of the Year

Project cost over £25,000

Sponsored by

crosswater®
Burlington®

L-R Host Miles Jupp, winner Pippa Paton and
Bathrooms Brands Group
CEO Rene Maan

Winner Pippa Paton

Pippa Paton Design
Location: Oxford
Project cost: £57,000 + VAT
Cost includes installation

Brief: "Our clients wanted to update the master bathroom of their house, which is built in the corner of a Georgian square and is an unusual shape as a result. They love functional and aesthetic simplicity and wanted clear surfaces and a quality finish."

What the judges said:

"We love the simplicity of Pippa's design. Quite often though, the more simple the finish, the more work that's gone into the design. Pippa has managed to create a much greater sense of space in this room and it is absolutely breathtaking. This is an example of a beautifully executed design. Every inch of this room has been designed so that it works specifically for this client with really innovative use of finishes and materials."

Finalists

Lara Mitchell Bagno Design

Location: Edinburgh

Project cost: £34,000

Cost includes installation

Brief: "For their master en-suite my clients wanted a room that not only had the wow factor, but also exuded calm. They admired the work of Sophie Paterson, so we based their initial brief on rooms similar to her style."

Dorian and Babette Bowen Project One

Location: Cardiff

Project cost: £40,000

Cost includes installation

Brief: "The clients requested a show bathroom that contained all our classic composites they loved but they also wanted something truly bespoke and a one-off piece. It needed to be elegant and inviting for guests as well as functional for their sons."