

Bathroom Designer of the Year project cost up to £10,000

Sponsored by

Rebecca Nottingham, editor of kbbreview (centre), accepting the Bathroom Designer of the Year: project cost up to £10,000 award on behalf of winner Alison Teverini from Milward Teverini. Host Steph McGovern (left) and PBG national sales manager James Wood (right).

WINNER Alison Teverini Milward Teverini

Location: London

Project cost: £9,500

Cost includes installation and building work

Brief: "The brief was to upgrade the small guest bathroom of this Victorian terraced family home. They wanted a calm colour palette to create a timeless look with lasting appeal."

What the judges said:

"Alison's clients wanted a Parisian chic bathroom and her design has fulfilled the brief perfectly. It offers fantastic value for money and is a great example of contemporary traditional bathroom design."

FINALISTS

Joanne Sangster
Ripples Reigate

Location: Reigate

Project cost: £9,650

Cost does not include installation

Brief: "My clients wanted a 'wow' downstairs cloakroom with a shower for occasional use. They wanted to create a definite retro feel to it but still make a very practical family space."

Mirka McNeill Farmer
Mirka McNeill Design

Location: North Norfolk

Project cost: £7,000

Cost includes building work but not installation

Brief: "This house is in a small Norfolk village and has fascinating medieval origins and features and the bathroom is a fusion of different styles and mostly reclaimed materials with modern elements."

Justine Bullock
The Tap End

Location: Cardiff

Project cost: £9,290

Cost does not include installation

Brief: "The newly-retired clients wanted an en suite off a ground floor bedroom that was being converted into a study. It needed to cater for their long term needs in a simple, masculine style."