WINNER Kitchens International Glasgow

Located on a busy main thoroughfare from west to east in the vibrant West end of Glasgow, Kitchen International's Glasgow studio is perfectly located. It is a fantastic example of a vibrant high street showroom. Carefully selected flooring runs throughout the store, designed to complement each display while creating continuity within the overall space. The use of sophisticated Lutron lighting and AV technology allows them to define each room set and set the mood for the studio.

What the judges said: "Kitchens International have done a remarkable job in creating a premium quality showroom from a relatively small space. Clever architectural design conceals, and incorporates, awkward structural features to make the most of the limited area available. Every square inch has been used to maximise the display areas while providing all the storage and back office facilities required in a busy showroom.

The displays are artfully designed and accessorised to provide an aura of quality and sophistication with clever use of glass and mirrors to enhance the feeling of space. From floor to ceiling, meticulous attention to detail and a passion to create a truly unique experience for their clients are evident as soon as you enter the showroom.

Kitchens International Glasgow is a great example of how a small studio can stand out in a busy street of competition."

FINALISTS

Kitchens by JS Geddes Kilmarnock

Significant investment and a strategic move into a more premium target market has seen half of the already impressive Kitchens by JS Geddes showroom undergo a remodel. A new reception featuring a client seating area and coffee and wine bar have just been completed and the newly installed Callerton area of the showroom is frequently included in the manufacturer's brochure and marketing.

Celtic Interiors Cork

In 2018, Celtic Interiors is celebrated 25 years in business and it's still growing impressively. The large showroom – 21 displays – is laid out and designed to take customers around a very carefully considered journey that demonstrates the full capability of the company's manufacturing workshop. In 2019 there are forward-thinking plans to put in a connected home appliance section that will include, through the use of Alexa, a fully-operational kitchen.

Greenhill Handmade Kitchens Co. Tyrone

The large Greenhill showroom is spread across two floors but still manages to feel as warm and inviting as the owners intend. Touches such as the childrens' play area and the working wood burning stove help emphasise the family atmosphere embodied by the company's own bespoke furniture. The building itself has huge windows at the front which set off the displays inside for anyone passing on the busy A5 road.
